Tai O Development - sheltered boat anchorage

Tai O was one of the largest fishing village in Hong Kong and an historical base for fishing boats in the western side of Lantau Island and the Pearl River Estuary, which in recent years, has a degradation of population base. Having seen the diminishing importance of this fishing village, the Hong Kong Civil Engineering Department has decided to revitalize Tai O by revising the town's local fishing industry and to creating a new mangrove habitat.

Jets was engaged in this Tai O Development project, providing a series of custom made outdoor furniture for the area that includes several sets of shelters, benches and litter bins as well as a 1627 meters long recycled plastic parapet along the seawall, forming a safe, durable pedestrian link for the area.
